

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a method of treating Malaria comprising administering an effective amount of an FPT inhibitor to a patient in need of such treatment alone or in 5 combination with an additional antimalarial agent and/or agent for reversing antimalarial resistance.

Also disclosed are novel Farnesyl Protein Transferase inhibitors.